

Introduction

Kenya Forestry Research Institute (KEFRI) is a state corporation whose mandate is to undertake research in forestry and allied natural resources. KEFRI promotes Bamboo for social economic benefit, biodiversity and environment management.

What is Bamboo!

Bamboo, also known as wondergrass, is a fast growing woody grass that is naturally found on mountain ranges and high-lands of Eastern African, as well as in the medium altitude and lowlands of other countries. Bamboo has short growth cycle and its ability to grow three times faster than fast growing tree species makes it one of the suitable supplements for wood.

Bamboo Uses

This wondergrass has more than 1,500 uses ranging from soil erosion control to water purification, environment conservation, and carbon sequestration, provision of foodstuff and construction materials, processed bamboo can manufacture variety of products.

Why Bamboo Products

Bamboo can make a wide variety of products that are eco-friendly, durable, elegant, light in weight and require minimum maintenance just like wood. Bamboo craft can also be used to boost cottage industries.

KEFRI Rif Valley Eco-region Research Programme has used bamboo to manufacture different items for tableware, decoration purposes, furniture, fancy items and other popular crafts as shown in this catalog.

Our products comes in different shapes and sizes and are designed, weaved and knitted by skilled artisans. Place your order now.
