

Capacity Development Project for Sustainable Forest Management (CADEP-SFM)

Criteria for Identification Good practice

A good practice can be identified as one that meets at least one third of the criteria outlined in the following table:-

No.	Criteria	Explanations on the practice
1.	Effective and successful	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Proven its relevance as an effective way to achieve a specific objective by solving a given challenge. Successfully adopted and has had a positive impact on individuals and/or communities.
2.	Technically feasible	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Easy to learn and to implement without difficulties, especially by end users such as farmers and pastoralists.
3.	Replicable and adaptable	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Can be replicated and is adaptable to solve similar problems in varying situations and sites.
4.	Applicability	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Be able to address climate change challenges and to combat desertification.
5.	Environmentally sound	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Does not pollute or lead to environmental degradation. Guarantee positive impact over time
6.	Economically viable	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Economically feasible to make it worth changing end users established habits Affordable alternative to older practices Economically beneficial to save money or generate income
7.	Socially acceptable	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Not offend or disturb social attitudes Culturally sensitive
8.	Innovative	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Demonstrates progressive and continued solutions to pressing environmental and social challenges such as climate change, food security, environmental resilience and gender empowerment
9.	Sustainable	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A 'good practice' meets current needs, without compromising the ability to address future needs Contributes to economic and social development, as well as environmental protection